Updating the documentation directly

If you want to contribute to the documentation directly, you can request permission to edit the documentation directly online in the wiki.

To do so, please email support@servoy.com requesting permission to contribute to the documentation.

Giving us a heads-up on anomalies or missing content

Found something amiss in the documentation or a topic that is not covered? Let us know through our support system.

Create a new case of type `Bug` for things amiss in the current documentation or a case of type `Task` for topics that are not covered. In both cases, make sure to set the component property of the new case to `Documentation`
