

Headless Client

The Servoy Headless Client cannot be started directly, but has to be instantiated through Java code.

Depending on the implementation, for example some JSP files or JAR archive files might need to be installed on the Servoy Application Server.